

Boston April 28. 1839.

Dear Debora.

Your truly pathetic was not heard in vain, and I set down to make a letter out of nothing. for really I have nothing to say. I write long letters to Anne every week, which she said she would pick all the meat out of and send it to you. I don't know what she has written to you so I hardly know what to write. You ask about her Taunton scope she went in the morning and staid till the next morning, she staid at Mrs Birds, she had a very good time but found but few true folks there, the principle host of them under Hopkins Emery, they will do something for our fair, but I suppose the principle host will go to the Boston Female. It was last Tuesday that she went, and Thursday night she went down to Lyons and spoke to a mixed assembly, she spoke about three-quarters of an hour, and as far as I can learn spoke very well. Wendell spoke first, and Maria spoke afterwards they spoke in the pulpit, at the close of the meeting a vote of thanks was presented to her and her speech requested for publication. Whether she will or not I don't know. You say in your letter to Maria you like the piece signed "an old country abolitionist." There was good reason for your liking it for Maria wrote it likewise she wrote the account of the two meetings of the Boston Female. Mary Parker says that there are at least 5 lies in it, but she does not consider it worthy of an answer. Henry, Caroline, and Lissy went down to Weymouth Sunday, they say that Henry looks so well you would hardly know him.

You would not know And if you should see her she is the biggest darling and beauty you ever saw, it is a pleasure to live in the same house with her. she is as good as ever and so knowing, we think of giving her an agency for the Cradle. Lissy is doing pretty well some times she does very well indeed and at other times this morning in particular she acts like fury. Maria has gone down to the office to see what news she can pick up. Johnson was here a minute or two ago and says that money is coming in fast. That Pettibone who has just been made an agent and is labouring in the western part of the state in a county where there is only three 'Liberators' taken has this morning sent in $800 dollars. is not that well.
I am in a perfect bother what to write to you as I suppose that ~~Charles~~ Anne has written to you. Caroline has moved her school from the place where she was and has gone into the house opposite. Maria I do not think will go on to New-York but she may rely upon it. I will see she is decent. I am now employed making a gown for Lissy. I do not study any here but cannot get a chance. from 9 till 12 I am with Lissy. but I am reading history of all kinds which I think will do me great good for I am as ignorant as a heath about it. I believe I have nothing more to say but will keep my letter open to see if I can pick up any thing more. I have very great pity for your desolate situation, but in a short time you will be here the baby when we ask her where Belle is, says down to Bedford I suppose that you have heard of the famous Fair that has been held here. Mary Chapman took Lizzy and I there I was a very splendid affair. Mrs. Tipton was here this morning and said she heard that they got twelve thousand dollars. most likely it is true, I only wish we may get as much at our fair. they sold every thing smooth smooth off. Warren dines here most every day and goes most every night out to Roxbury, Maria has written to Johnathon Childs asking him for money to print Mrs. Toller's book that she is going to make her own Fair, and we are expecting an answer to day.

I have nothing more to say but will try to make Maria write if I can.

yours affectionately

Lucia Weston.

In compliance with your request I send you all the old letters I was find so make the best of them. you may destroy all but Genait's and the notice, I think this is a made up bundle. for you had nothing to send. but your Mr. Vetric appeal took us entirely off our feet.

Lucia Weston
